Contact: pubs@coas.oregonstate.edu, 541-737-3295, Burt 166

Services are at no direct cost to you unless otherwise noted.

Grant preparation and submission. After a proposal budget is approved by Accounting, Publishing can help copyedit, proofread project descriptions, etc.

Journal articles. Editing (copyedit, proofread, reference checks, format).
Questions on Open Access.

Poster support. Print on 42-inch plotter ($1.50/sq. ft. to an index number).
Questions on file layout.

Graphics support. Creating scientific illustrations.

Video support. Help with video abstracts, research summaries, broader impacts. GoPro/Olympus TG-5 check-out to capture research/field work.

Publicity. If you have a news story, contact Publishing or write directly to Mark Floyd (MarkFloyd@oregonstate.edu, with copy to pubs@coas.oregonstate.edu). Mark writes university press releases for our College. Publishing posts news on our website, repurposes news for other publications, and pitches stories to OSU outlets such as Terra.

Create and publish content for College publications, such as annual highlights, research summaries, posters and signage for College events (provided appropriate lead time), brochures for the College as well as institutes such as OOI, multimedia content such as video or timelines. Support of College outreach projects, such as Salmon Bowl.

Web site. Publishing develops and maintains the main CEOAS web site at <http://ceoas.oregonstate.edu/>, including information in the Directory of People. They also can answer questions about how to set up a Central Web Services WordPress site for a lab, research group, or personal web page.

Broader Impacts. Publishing can review Broader Impacts statements, help craft narratives, assist in connecting researchers with appropriate campus groups (e.g., Pre-College Programs, SMILE), or help conceptualize ideas.

Other Services

Printing/copier machines. Publishing changes toner cartridges and resolves repair issues. Please do not change (or swap out) toner cartridges yourself.
